Attention: Mike Redmond, Chief, Tariff Investigations

Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

RE: Decision No. 10 –C-A-2014
Dr. Gabor Lukacs v. British Airways
Application for an extension of the time for making Submissions on Denied Boarding Compensation in answer to the Show Cause order of the Agency

We make the following submissions in response to the letter dated March 7, 2014 from Dr. Lukacs opposing British Airways' request for an extension of time.

British Airways is working on complying with the orders of the Agency in Decision No. 10-C-A-2014. It is presently trying to file the tariff revisions required by the Order of the Agency disallowing parts of Rules 55, 85, 87 and 115 to comply with the order. British Airways' legal and operational personnel are also working internally on submissions to the Agency pursuant to the show cause order regarding involuntary denied boarding compensation.

British Airways is committed to complying with Decision No. 10-C-A-2014 and to accomplish compliance has needs more time than provided by the Agency. Accordingly, it has made a request for the extension of time.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Carol E. McCall
